Submission: I would like to see a realistic limit to the amount of Dairy Farming on the Canterbury Plains. This area is not equipt cope with the scale of dairy farming now in operation, or any further expansion of such. Farmers would profit better by looking at other sources of income from this area and would be wise to think about this for their economic future and for the future of all who live on the Canterbury Plains.

The Plains are over-populated by dairy cattle.

The Plains cannot support any increases in dairy production with increased irrigation.

As a rate payer, I don't want to subsidise increased irrigation for dairy farming.

Yours sincerely,
Aurora Smith
